

Indala Strengthens Commitment to EU Markets by Establishing MR Access as Indala Limited

*Former Indala UK Distribution Partner to Become EMEA Headquarters for Leading Access Control
Manufacturer, Adding New Products and Enhanced Capabilities*

San Jose, CA and Cardiff, UK (November 10, 2004) Indala Corporation, an industry leading manufacturer of secure, contactless cards, tags, readers, and core electronics modules for physical and logical access control and MR Access, a leading United Kingdom-based provider of contactless 13.56 MHz smartcard and reader solutions and the world's leading manufacturer of premium-quality magnetic stripe card readers today announced that MR Access has joined Indala and will now become Indala Limited.

MR Access brings their well-established reputation for custom 13.56 MHz RFID and magnetic stripe solutions to Indala's channels to market, providing products and services to new and existing customers in Europe, the Middle East and Africa. The Cardiff-based design, manufacturing, sales, and service organization will continue to be led by Dr. Selvaratnam who will serve as managing director of Indala Limited reporting to Indala president, Marc Freundlich.

"MR Access enjoyed a successful track record as Indala's distribution partner for 125 kHz contactless products to the UK market. We're proud to now become a part of the Indala organization. The alliance of technical ability, local presence and support will enable Indala to greatly enhance the services offered to our joint customer base. The combined resources will enable Indala to continue to provide leading edge, best-in-class solutions for magnetic stripe, low frequency 125 kHz proximity and high frequency 13.56 MHz smartcard products," said Dr. Selvaratnam.

"We are excited about the opportunities this combination represents for our customers in the EU and worldwide. Benefits include new and innovative products as well as improved EU-based technical, sales and product
